INTRODUCTION

The following is a summary of the results of the study conducted by the author. The study was designed to investigate the effects of the independent variable on the dependent variable. The results of the study are presented in the following sections.

1. The first section of the study was a review of the literature. This section provided a background on the topic and identified the research gaps that the study aimed to address.

2. The second section of the study was the methodology. This section described the research design, the participants, the data collection methods, and the data analysis techniques.

3. The third section of the study was the results. This section presented the findings of the study, including the mean scores, standard deviations, and the results of the statistical tests. The results showed that there was a significant difference between the two groups, with the experimental group performing better than the control group.

4. The fourth section of the study was the conclusion. This section summarized the findings of the study and provided recommendations for future research.

CONCLUSION

The study concluded that the independent variable had a significant effect on the dependent variable. The results of the study suggest that the intervention was effective in improving the outcome of the study.
